New Volunteer Program At Lawrence General

The Volunteer Department of the Lawrence General Hospital has a new job.

A special group of women have begun working enthusiastically under the guidance of the Physical Therapy department, and the physicians and nurses, on a new project that promises many benefits.

A program has been set up to provide recreation for hospitalized patients who suffer from physical disability, depression or just plain boredom. Children who are uneasy because of the unfamiliar surroundings of a hospital may be diverted and comforted. Older people who have lost their self-confidence may be assisted and a sympathetic ear is available to all who need it. With the encouragement and assistance of the doctors and nurses, and the enthusiastic response of the patients, plans are moving ahead much more rapidly than anticipated. Thus more volunteers are needed.

An aqua and white cart, outfitted with a selection of creative activities, games and materials, has been made, and each day volunteers take it on a round of patients who have been specified for this type of therapy.

A call will often come from the Physical Therapy Department requesting assistance with a patient who needs to learn to use his hands again, or to listen to another as he attempts to regain his speech. Also the Pediatric Department may have a desper-

Budgets Cut By Manager

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff has trimmed $42,254 from town budgets - the equivalent of the two percent cut voted at town meeting.

In doing so, he has not reduced any existing salaries.

Reporting to the Selectmen Monday night, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said the total budget was $2,112,702 - and with the reduction of two percent, it becomes $2,070,448.

Explaining his actions, the manager said some expense items have been reduced, where this could be done without interfering with vital services; some additional salary expenditures have also been reduced, to bring the cut up to two percent. In the latter cases, however, he said savings had been realized by delaying the appointment of personnel - thus it becomes necessary to pay them for a smaller portion of the year than had been budgeted.

Beacon St. Bus Cost In Selectmen's Laps

FISHING DERBY IS SCHEDULED SATURDAY

The Sportsman's Club Fishing Derby will be held this Saturday, May 4, at Hussey's Pond in Shawshen.

Children from the age of six, through 12, are eligible to compete for prizes. The contest period is 6 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The Townsman regrets any inconvenience caused by its erroneous report that the Derby would be held a week ago.

Selectmen Agree On Enforcement

The town's building code, and allied regulations on fire safety, plumbing, electricity, etc., will be strictly enforced.

The Selectmen agreed on a firm enforcement policy Monday night, after listening to a report by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff on Post Office ave. conditions.

Mr. Duff outlined the steps that are being followed in seeking a thorough inspection of buildings on the avenue. Although the various inspectors and responsible officials met on the subject once last week, he explained that Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien is planning to discuss the problems at a joint meeting late this week.

A score of determined Beacon st. residents filled the School Committee rooms Tuesday night, and won a promise from the School Committee:

A bus will be provided for children on that street, on a temporary basis, if the Selectmen will pay for it.

A quick meeting has been called with the Selectmen, and the Finance Committee, to talk about the money required to operate the bus. School Supt. Edward I. Erickson estimates the cost at $3 daily, or $15 a week.

He stressed that there is now no bus covering any of Beacon st., and that one would have to be re-routed to take care of the children.

However, Supt. Erickson agreed with residents that a bus now picks up children at the corner of Juniper rd. and that this is less than a mile from school; room for the children. The Shaw-sheen stop, he went on, results from a re-routing due to highway construction. The buses are not going out of their regular routes in either case, the superintendent stated.

Residents picked him up sharply on the two exceptions to the one-mile walking rule for elementary school children. This had been one of the reasons originally cited by the School Committee for not providing transportation on Beacon st., beyond Chandler rd.

During the meeting, residents also were told that safety is a Selectmen's problem - the School Committee, while aware of the safety requirements and sympathetic to the problems, believe this to lie within the province of the Selectmen. Member John S. Sullivan stressed that the town charter specifically puts this responsibility on the general town government.

One resident of the area seemed to sum up the feeling of the others, when he told the committee: "Don't send us sympathy cards, provide us the buses".

Duff Promised To Do Road Project

Reconstruction of the Beacon st. - Chandler rd. intersection will take place this year, providing property easements can be secured.

That was the promise Town Manager Thomas E. Duff gave the Selectmen and residents of Beacon st., during Monday night's Selectmen's meeting.

Agreeing that the intersection is dangerous, he explained that work to make it safer - including lowering the grade - can be done this year if land is obtained without difficulty.

As far as sidewalks on Beacon st. are concerned, he said these may be a year or two away. The street itself should be widened, the manager noted; he also commented that the state is planning to put in some sidewalks when the construction for Route 495, at Beacon st., is completed. It certainly would be wise to wait for this to happen, he continued.

The manager reported that some heavy trucks have stopped using the street at the moment, and that an officer posted at the Route 495 construction site has counted about four youngsters walking to school each day.

Resident William Stewart told the Board, however, that there are 31 elementary school children on Beacon st., 27 of whom attend the West School. He expressed far more concern about the winter, than about the remaining six weeks of school.

The Selectmen agreed that the narrow street, banked with snow on both sides, becomes a dangerous place to walk. And there was general agreement, expressed verbally by Selectman Philip K. Allen, that corrective measures will be taken without waiting until the next stormy season.

Selectman Paul W. Cronin emphasized that bus transportation may well be the temporary solution, even next fall and winter.

Noting that the expense for the extra trip will be relatively little, he commented that the expense is small, when children's lives are at stake.

Mr. Duff reported that he had ridden over the area with School Supt. Edward I. Erickson, and had discussed the matter thoroughly with him. It appears, he said, that the School Department is very reluctant to break its one-mile limit, because there would be as many requests for transportation from all over town. Presently, the elementary school children who live within a mile of school are required to walk. The Lawrence line, on Beacon st., has been said to be exactly one mile, thus making the children on that street ineligible.

Abbot Academy Bazaar May 4

The annual Abbot Academy Bazaar will be held May 4, from 2-5 p.m.

Sponsored by the student body, the bazaar is directly under the supervision of the senior middle class. Proceeds go to the scholarship fund at the school.

The Abbot Circle will be colorfully decorated for the occasion, in relation to the theme "Circus".

Concluding the afternoon will be an auction. The public is invited to take part in the afternoon's festivities.

WHOSE BUSINESS IS SAFETY?

At the heart of the current discussion over school children walking along Beacon st. is a dispute over the responsibility for safety on the highways.

Pike Program This Summer

The Pike School will begin the fifth season of its Summer Session Monday, July 1.

The session continues for a six-week period through Friday, Aug. 9. The work is scaled for boys and girls beginning with those who have completed the fourth grade and continuing through to those who have completed the ninth grade. Offerings are entirely academic. Classes are scheduled for the morning hours only, 8:30 - noon, five days each week.

The local private day school is offering its teaching services and facilities to the Merrimack Valley community to help boys and girls who wish to strengthen their academic background in basic verbal and numerical skills. All boys and girls are required to work in the field of general English studies and are permitted to select a second area of interest such as mathematics, French, or history.

The work accomplished is sometimes accepted for credit by the child's regular school; sometimes it offers an opportunity to explore new material; sometimes the courses have satisfied the need for review of work with which the student may have had difficulty during his regular school session. Classes are organized into small groups ranging from two to nine students per teacher.

There is a minimum charge so as to make available the opportunity to all. Douglas M. Dunbar has been appointed to the directorship of this year's program and will be assisted by members of the regular school staff. Inquiries may be made at the school.

Annual Banquet For Camp Fire Girls

son, who showed slides of the camp. Other officers and guests who attended the banquet were:

REV. J. ALLYN BRADFORD

Announcement has been made that the Rev. J. Allyn Bradford of the Free Christian Church has been selected by the United Church of Christ to participate in a special program this summer.

Mr. Bradford will study Theology under noted scholars, among them the celebrated Theologians Dr. C. H. Dodd and Dr. Ian Ramsey, at Mansfield College, Oxford, England.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Fair Enforcement

Enforcement of fire and health laws.

A noble purpose — a righteous cause — and possibly a reality, if the town government means business.

On very few occasions in the past, however, has the town government really meant business. Most times, its bark was worse than its bite.

A few years ago, the town did compel the razing of a Main st. building. But it seems to us that this single action should have been followed up, over the years, with other "fix it or tear it down" edicts.

It's impossible to assess the blame, or to be really critical of the inspectors during this period. For the entire attitude of the municipal government has to be one of stern determination before the inspectors can reasonably make demands on the property owners. If there is anything less than 100 percent willingness to back up the inspectors, these individuals can justifiably feel that they will earn too much criticism and complaint for doing their job.

Post Office ave. has been singled out, at the moment, for a thorough inspection. But there are other places in town which need attention.

We hope that the town's inspectors and departments will deal fairly, but sternly, with all property owners whose buildings are in violation of any municipal code. In this way, the town may be able to divest itself of some of the really bad conditions which exist.

Do What's Needed

The town manager has promised residents of Beacon st. that the dangerous intersection at Beacon st. and Chandler rd. will be improved this year, providing easements can be secured.

This is specially good news, in light of the existing conditions at that intersection and on Beacon st. itself.

All that remains, before next winter's snows set in, is to get some sort of sidewalk — even if it is a gravel pathway — along the street.

There have been several arguments against initiating a crash program on Beacon st. — mostly concerning other conditions in scattered sections of the town, which should be corrected. We can not help but feel that the Beacon st. safety hazard is compelling; it must not be shuffled off just because some other section of town also needs work done.

In fact, some months ago the School Committee suggested that a program of sidewalk construction be prepared, with the view of eliminating the most dangerous conditions as they relate to school children. This would be a worthwhile program to adopt — instead of hesitating to build sidewalks on Beacon st., as a precedent, the powers-that-be should simply make this the first project and continue on to correct unsafe conditions wherever they exist.

Finances aside, parents of small children are concerned only with the safety of their youngsters, if they have to walk to school. The town should be equally interested, and do whatever is necessary for their protection.

Prime Example

One of the strongest arguments we can imagine, in favor of the anti-litter campaign, came about at a recent fire on Jenkins rd., near the state forest.

As far as can be determined, some thoughtless person emptied out the contents of his automobile ash tray on the side of the road — and thus a fire began.

As if it isn't bad enough to discard wastes along the roadside, this was done in a way that could have caused a real disaster. The woods, as everyone should have known, were tinder dry; the state forest could have burned, as did a similar area on the Cape.

Thus we have two examples, really — one of careless and heedless litter along the roads; the other of wanton disregard for the lives and safety of residents in the area, and for the maintenance of a forested area.

Only the most diligent enforcement of existing laws, and a continuing, strengthened educational campaign to reach such people, will result in keeping our roads clean and our forests unburned.

Common courtesy on the highways may be old-fashioned, but you never heard of it getting a man into trouble.

Money is of no value to the man without experience, so a great many get the experience while earning the money.

To Our Friends

Once more the library wishes to thank all those who helped make our National Library Week a pleasant and happy experience for the staff and for members of the reading public.

Dozens of the new books on display have been placed on reserve for those who signed up for them during the week. The next New Book Sampler will carry a listing of books displayed in the adult reading room and those who were unable to browse will have an opportunity to see just what was on exhibit.

The Notable Books of 1962, displayed during the week, are now in circulation. This collection has met with particular approval and interest this year, and readers feel that the selections made by the Notable Books Council of the Adult Services Division of the American Library Association is a distinct credit to them and the thirty-nine United States libraries which shared in the compilation.

There are a few copies of the home reference library list, available in paperbound books for thirteen dollars, still available for families who may wish to consider beginning to invest in useful, almost essential books for home ownership.

Andover in Pictures

The library wishes to make a note of the interest shown by Andover readers in the pictures loaned for National Library Week by Andover persons who had caught a scene of our community in water color, oil, pen and ink and pencil. It is always pleasant to see the response to original work, and particularly so when the viewer discovers unexpected talents and abilities in friends and neighbors. The display was greatly appreciated.

Framed Prints

Once more the library is planning to show a number of prints, some of which will be selected for purchase by the library, to be framed and hung in Andover homes after being voted as most desirable by library visitors.

The prints, hung at the edge of both mezzanines in the main reading room, will remain on display for several days, with ballots at hand. Readers are asked to number ballots in the order of their choice. No signatures are needed.

In previous years four or five have been chosen from the full display.

All are invited to participate.

announced by Robert Phinney, chairman of the Board's Retail Committee.

Several other organizations have indicated that they plan to participate, including several which have not been able to take part in previous bazaars, Phinney said. This year the Board is asking that organizations request their booth space in writing, indicating their location preference as well as the type of booth they plan to sponsor. These written requests should be sent to either Phinney or the Andover Board of Trade in care of Charles R. Dunklee at the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce office. Reservations and space will be allotted on the "first come - best served" basis, Phinney stated.

Letters are being sent out to those organizations and firms which sponsored tables or special events last year, Dunklee stated, with the hope that all of these groups will participate again.

The popular fish chowder supper will again be sponsored by the Child Study Group, South Church and the Board has been assured that Sutherland's Andover Store will have the organ grinder and his monkey on hand for the Bazaar, Phinney said.

One of the main objectives of the Bazaar, is to provide local organizations with an opportunity to raise money for their favorite charities and projects. "All local organizations are urged to take advantage of this event and to contact the Board as soon as possible to reserve their event", according to President Raymond B. DeRuisseau.

The following organizations have formally requested space: Catholic Daughters of America; Andover Chapter #187, Order of Eastern Star; Child Study Workshop, South Church; Ladies Auxiliary; Clan Johnston; Policewomen; Andover; and the Xi Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

During the discussion, Mr. Duff stated that he had heard some unfavorable comments on the street, relating to the inspections done in the past. He stated that various municipal inspectors and officials have taken exceptions to this, commenting that copies of their inspections and reports are available for scrutiny if necessary.

Mr. Duff also noted that the building damaged by fire has been condemned by the building inspector, and the owner, George Parker, has been informed that the structure should be boarded up until insurance companies complete arrangements; then it is to be torn down.

There was general agreement among the Selectmen that only a general enforcement of the town's regulations can be effective.

Edgar Haselton, a director of the Andover Board of Trade, will act as general chairman for the ABT's Annual Dinner, which is tentatively scheduled for the second week of June, it was announced by President, Raymond B. DeRuisseau.

The dinner will climax the Board's first year as a Division of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce. Last June the members of the Board of Trade voted to affiliate with the Lawrence Chamber and receive staff assistance from the Chamber in carrying out its programs.

Kenneth P. Thompson, immediate past president of the Board, is chairman of the Nominating and By-Laws Committee and will make his report to the members at the dinner.

Details for the dinner have not yet been finalized, president DeRuisseau stated, but it is expected that Chairman Haselton will announce the exact date and location of the dinner by next week. Special emphasis will be given by the Dinner Committee to have as many of the member's wives attend as possible, Haselton said.

Farewell Party For Penneys

Last Sunday afternoon from 4 o'clock until 5:30, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the West Parish Church, honoring Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Penney.

For the past nine months, he has been interim pastor of the church. Over 100 members and friends gathered to wish them good luck as they leave their duties in West Church to assume, in June, the duties of interim pastor of the Congregational Church in Dedham.

The West Church is deeply indebted to Dr. Penney for the true

Christian Spirit of helpfulness which he has shown while he has been acting pastor. Fred Tarbox, on behalf of the Church Membership presented the Penneys with a purse, a radio and a coffee maker.

Monday, the Penneys left for a month's vacation, part of which will be spent with friends in Wilmington, Del. and the rest with their daughter and her family in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Tea was served in charge of the Deaconesses.

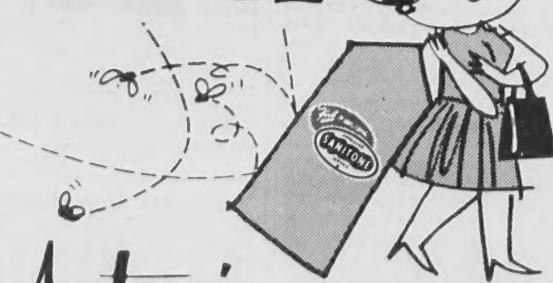

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips B. Marsden Jr. of Lockway rd. have returned from a vacation trip to Bermuda.
